

ALL GIFTS TO THE DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY AND CHEMICAL BIOLOGY ARE GREATLY APPRECIATED

Contributions to the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Biology provide critical support to our teaching laboratories, graduate and undergraduate student fellowships, new faculty members and new research programs. While we receive funding from the university and through the many research grants of our faculty, the department remains in need of additional resources to maintain its position as one of the leading chemistry research departments in the nation.

A gift in any amount is appreciated and needed. For those with the desire and resources, there are naming opportunities for undergraduate scholarships, graduate fellowships, endowed professorships and research funds.

Deferred gifts and other tax planning approaches can often make more substantial gifts possible. Through a planned gift, alumni can give assets to Cornell while retaining the income. Bequests can be made in the form of a specific gift of cash or property, or a percentage of an estate.

There are several ways to give (be sure to specify that it is for the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Biology):
